Three-Star General Hits Target Here

Lt General Robert McMurry visited the Aerospace Center in early June to get to know the mission and value of the Air Force workload performed here.

McMurry visited with community leaders and elected officials at The Works, previewing the new SciDome STEM tool. He also helped kick off a Air Force Primary Standards Laboratory modernization project by slinging a sledgehammer at the future site for a new Force Lab.

Buying Local Matters

Capital projects from the $6.8 million new Force Lab to the renovations to accept the new 911 Center are underway. A wide range of projects are visible on the Aerospace Center campus. What's most noteworthy? Local contractors are winning the bids. The projects page is a who's who of Licking County contractors.

Meet Us in the Meadow

Port Authority CEO Rick Platt invites his July and August meetings to meet in the meadow. The Port Authority's Ohio-native meadow is now in full bloom. The eco-friendly project is a Dawes Arboretum-inspired setting on the campus that is a model for a suburban industrial park.
