STEM Advocacy Continues

The first STEM hands-on industry exhibition at The Works was on February 21, 2009 when the Port Authority and its Aerospace Center customers took over for a Sunday. It was a then-record crowd of parents and kids mingling with industry to learn about the value of STEM skills. Mark your calendars. February 16 and 17, 2019 marks the 10th year of STEMfest at The Works.

Sprucing Up For Autumn Construction

Projects continue at the Aerospace Center this Autumn. From painting and entrance reconstruction at the Boeing Building to building construction along Kaiser Drive, the pace of capital projects isn't being slowed by cold weather.
