MISTRAS Group Commits to Heath

The $5.2 million state-of-the-art operations and laboratories for MISTRAS Group will stand at the corner of James Parkway and Kaiser Drive in 2015 as a visible sign of the company's commitment to Heath and its workforce. A groundbreaking ceremony was held this morning to celebrate a kick-off to the project will retain MISTRAS and its 130-person operation on the Aerospace Center campus. The 15-year build-to-suit lease MISTRAS signed with the Heath-Newark-Licking County Port Authority was also announced.

Congressmen Tiberi, Turner Visit

Fully 0.5% of Congress visited the Aerospace Center last Thursday when Congressman Pat Tiberi and his Dayton-area colleague, Congressman Mike Turner, toured the Bionetics-operated Air Force Primary Standards Laboratory. The pair also met with the leadership of the Center's defense contractors. It was a first visit for Congressman Turner who remarked on the unique, national defense work at the facility, calling it "a shining star."
